

PORTABLE SITE ACCOMMODATION

Quality and Environmental Policy

Kensite Services provides a robust range of portable site accommodation to local authorities and major companies in the construction market and special welfare units to key events – offering a temporary or long term solution to suit your specific requirements.

With a proven track record, our work-force possess the knowledge and expertise to consistently meet the expectations of our customers, delivering market-leading accommodation units, when and where they are needed.

In maintaining our commitment to our customers and also the environment we recognize the need to demonstrate effective quality and environmental management which is achieved through a company wide commitment to continual improvement. This is demonstrated through all aspects of our work including our products and service delivery and the safe management of water and effluent waste. We seek to minimize our significant environmental aspects, prevent pollution and to ensure compliance with all applicable legal and other requirements.

In support of this we have identified objectives to minimize waste sent to landfill using the waste hierarchy. We are also committed to reducing our utilities (Energy, Water) usage and where appropriate, making use of sustainable options for our service provision.

To assist us with our stated aims we have implemented and will maintain an integrated management system that incorporates the requirements of ISO 9001:2008 and ISO 14001:2004. The system provides us with a means of monitoring and measuring our process and provides the framework for the setting of appropriate objectives and targets for quality and the environment. This integrated policy is available to the public via our website:
www.kensiteservices.com

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "John Munay".

John Munay
Managing Director
November 2015